

For the past 25 years, immigrants with "green cards" and who have other forms of legal residence have been denied access to federal health care, nutrition, housing, and other programs for their first five years in the United States despite paying federal taxes during that period. Because safety net programs help entire families, this exclusion has denied care and aid to millions of U.S. citizens who have immigrant spouses or parents. Would you support or oppose legislation restoring safety net access to immigrant families who meet eligibility requirements?
